

About NIFA

(National Intercollegiate Flying Association)

NIFA is comprised of over sixty-eight colleges & universities most of which have formal aviation education programs. NIFA has been involved in flight education & collegiate flight competitions since 1920, when it was co-founded by Yale student Juan Trippe, who also founded Pan American Airways.

We need, as individuals & aviation companies, to support NIFA in continuing its 90 year heritage of intercollegiate competitions.

NIFA is a 501 (c) (3) nonprofit organization that must rely on continued charitable contributions and industry sponsorship to exist each year.

Funds raised by our Sixth Golf classic will go directly to student awards & scholarships, regional & national SAFECON insurance coverage & test materials. NIFA is also in great need of office space/equipment/supplies.

NIFA is a wonderful volunteer organization (only two paid employees) that provides a great service in the experience & development of our future aviation professionals. This historic organization needs your help & support.
